There are many ways to go about constructing a website, but one of the best methods is to purchase a domain name from a good domain name registrar. In the example shown below, we will use GoDaddy as our example domain name registrar. While GoDaddy is an online domain name registrar (they handle the name registration for you), they also offer a website builder that allows you to easily construct your own website. GoDaddy provides a free trial period where you can build a website. Depending on the complexity of your website, it could take up to a week. All you have to do is log in to the GoDaddy website, click on the 'Website' button, and then click on 'Start'. This will create your website for you. You will be given a choice of themes that you can use to base your website off of, and when you're done, click on 'Create website'. After you create your website, it will take a few days before it appears online. It's also important to make sure that the domain name that you purchased is current. This
